

Nkosinathi Mbulumeti has a BCom (Accounting) degree and a postgraduate Diploma (Management Practice) from Henley Business School and is a head of the business partner experience and shared services.

For nine years, he has led multiple teams ranging from junior consultants to product experts in developing innovative programmes and implementing processes that lead to improved customer experiences. His enthusiasm for helping build effective and high-performance teams and assisting customers with developing their businesses is driven through consistent internal and external engagements internally aimed at aligning business targets and customer growth.

He loves working with people and assisting them in reaching their full potential so they can grow their roles and fulfil their career aspirations.

"NORMAL IS EXTINCT"

