

Paul Plummer is a founder and director of Blackslope, a company that drives strategic innovation, non-organic business growth, rapid commercialisation, corporate venturing and start-up maximisation.

He is a dual Bcom graduate with an international marketing degree and honours in accounting science. He is a Deloitte-trained CA(SA) with international professional experience in North America.

Having led multiple listed entities' corporate innovation and venturing programmes for listed entities and raising start-ups, Paul has a clear understanding of viable solutions that mitigate the challenges behind driving value in corporate venturing and effectively delivering innovative programmes that drive exponential growth.

"NORMAL IS EXTINCT"

