

Yvette Render holds a BSc (Agric) in food science and technology from the University of Pretoria. She is presently a Technical Manager at Symrise - Taste Nutrition and Health. She has been in the food industry for 18 years, eight of which involved "flavours". She has worked at several leading companies and held positions that have included being a Quality Controller, Product Development Technologist, Laboratory Manager, and Technical Manager.

With experience in food safety, new product development, project management and the commercialisation of new products, her passion is food and all its aspects, from sustainable production of safe products to ensure that healthy food is available for everyone. Her guiding belief is also a question: "If we are what we eat, what would you want to be?"

"NORMAL
IS EXTINCT"
